THE BOAT RIDE.

BY L. J. BATES.

and I went sailing;
breeze blew fair and free:
boated onward, outward,
the silent sea:
the waves of the ocean
ngled low along the shore:
did not hear their music,
we knew not of their roar.

nt went dropping, dropping,
drifted toward the moon:
r the sparkling waters
light fell fair aboon:
ently on the ocean,
softly on the sand,
did not see the waters,
e did not see the land.

danced lightly, gaily:
f upon the deep,
ed us as a mother
cks her babe as'eep:
waves rippled sweetly,
re our bark along:
d not feel their motion,
e did not hear their song.

e sails drifted by us,
ships from foreign lands,
boats that early
ared to quit the sands;
merry rowers,
who sailed alone.
out of their presence,
the sea was all our own

first hear the rowers,
did not see the sky,
not note the vessels
drifted slowly by:
not of the waters,
new not of the shore;
saw and heard each other,
we wanted nothing more!

BEN PURTLE GOT HIS WIFE.

very climax of ugliness was Ben
He was red haired and each hair
if it cheerished the supremest con-its next neighbor. His face was as the most bespotted turkey egg.
supported at the bridge a huge ble the end turned viciously, to His mouth had every shape but shape. His form was uncouth as ape ugly. The very climax of ug-as Ben Purtle—what was more ful, Ben had a handsome, bounc-oming wife—such as can only be on a country farm.
dence,' said I to Ben one day
the dence get such a wife, you uncouth
, quintessence of monstrosity?'
was not at all offended by the impertinence of my question, and forthwith proceeded to solve the mystery thus:

'Well, now gals what's sensible aint cotch by none of your purty faces and hifalutin airs. I've seed that tried more'n once. You know Kate was allers considered the purtiest gal in these parts, and all the young fellers in the naborhood used to try to cotch her. Well, I used to go over to old Sammy's too, just to kinder look on, you know, and cast sheep's eyes at Kate. But Lord sakes! I had no more thought that I could got Kate than that a Jerusalem cricket could hide in the hair that wasn't on old Sammy's bald head—no sirree. But still, I couldn't help going on, my heart would kinder flutter, and my ears would burn all over, whenever I go to talk to Kate. And one day when Kate sorter made fun of me like, it almost killed me sure. I went home with somethin like a rock jostlin about in my breast, and swore I'd hang myself with the fust plow line I found.'

'Did you hang yourself?' I asked.

'No, daddy blazed out at me for not taking old Ball to the pasture in the morning and scared me so bad I forgot it.'

'Go on,' said I, seeing Ben pause with apparent regret that he had not executed his vow.

'Well, soon one Sunday morning—(I reckon it was about a year after that hanging scrape)—I got up and scraped my face with daddy's old razor, and put on my new copp'rus britches and a new linsey coat mammy had dyed with sassafac bark, and other fixens, and went over to uncle Sammy's. Now, I'd got to loving Kate like all creation, but I'd never cheaped to anybody about my feelings. But I knowed I was on the right side of the old folks.'

'Well, now, aint it quar,' continued Ben, after a slight pause, during which he rolled his quid to a more convenient place in his mouth. 'how a feller will feel sometimes? Something seemed to say as I went along, 'Ben Purtle, this is a great day for you,' and then my heart jumped and flattered like a live jay bird in a trap. And when I got thar and seed Kate with her new checked homespun frock on, I rally thought I should take the blind staggers anyhow.'

Ben paused again to brush the fog from his eyes, and then continued:

'Well, I found the order of the day was to go muscadine hunting. Joe Sharp and his two sisters, and Jim Boles was thar.—I'd knowed a long time that Joe Sharp was right after Kate; and I hated him wus than a hog hates to find the way out of a tater patch; but I didn't let on. Sharp had on white britches and fine shoes, and broadcloth coat, but everybody knowed he wasn't worth a red cent. He walked with Kate, and you ought to a seen the airs he put on. It was 'Miss Katy' this and 'Miss Katy' that and all such nonsense. After a while we came to a slough whar we had to cross on a log—I'd a notion to pitch the sassy good for nothing into the water.'

'Why didn't you,' I asked, sympathizing with the narrator.

'Stop, never mind,' said Ben, giving me a nudge. 'Providence done all that up brown. Nothing would do but Joe Sharp must lead Miss Katy across first.—He jumped on the log in high glee, and took Kate's hand and off they put. Jist as they got half way across, a tarnation big bull frog jumped off in the water—you know how they holler,—'Snake!' screamed the blasted fool, and jumped back and knocked Kate off up to her waist in the nasty, black, muddy water. And what d'ye think he done? Why run backerds and forerds a hollering for a pole to help Kate out of the water. Kate looked at me and I couldn't stand it no longer.—Curchug! I lit ten foot from the bank at the first jump, and had Kate out of thar in no time. And d'ye think the scamp didn't come up after we'd got out, and say: 'Ar you hurt Miss Katy?'

My dander was up. I couldn't stand it. I cotch him by the seat of his white britches and his coat collar and gin him a toss. May be he didn't go clean under when he hit the water. I didn't see him out. Me and Kate put out for the house. When we started off Kate said:

'Ben, jist let me hold on to your arm, my knees feel sorter weak.'

'Great jeminy! I felt so quar when she tuck hold. I tried to say something nice, but my drotted mouth wouldn't go off no how. But I felt as strong as an elephant and helped Kate along. Bimeby Kate said:

Ben, that Joe Sharp's a good for nothin, sneakin, cowardly nobody; and ef he ever puts his head inside our house again I'll souse him with dish water sure.'

'I tried to say something again, but cuss the luck I couldn't say nothing, but squeezed Kate's hand and sighed like a cranky bellus.

We'd got clean out of sight of the others, and Kate says—

'Ben, I feel that you're my protector, and I believe daddy's right when he says you're worth all the rest of the boys in the naborhood.

'Ben Purtle,' says, I 'this is a great day for you,' and I made a tremendous effort to get my mouth off again and out it popped sure enough:

'Kate,' says I, trembling all over, 'I love you to distraction, and no mistake.—I've loved you long and hard. My heart's been allmost broke for two years; and now I want you to say right straight up and down whether you're going to have me or not?'

Kate hung down her head and didn't say nothing, but I felt encouraged for she kinder sighed. Says I,

'Kate, ef you're gwine to have me, say so, and ef you don't want to say so, jist squeeze my hand.'

'Well, she squeezed my hand right off. Lordy, how I did feel. I felt jist like a stream of warm water or sassafrac tea sweetened with molasses, was running through my bones! and jist cotch her in my arms, and kissed her right in the mouth, and she never tried the first time to get loose.'

Ben was so overcome with this narration of his courtship, that a pause for breath was necessary.

'How long after that,' said I, 'before you were married?'

'Old Sammy was mighty proud, and so was the old 'oman, about the thing, and we married next fall after the muscadine scrape.'

'Do you think your wife loves you yet?' I asked.

'Why, lordy, yes. She thinks I'm the purtiest and best feller in the world. I tell you, sir, it's no use talking; high falutin airs, and quality dressing and colone and such things aint a gwine to go down with sensible gals sure.'

TOUCHING INCIDENT OF FRATERNAL LOVE. We have never read a more touchingly beautiful incident than the following, which occurred a short time since in one of the French courts. The natural nobility of the brother, and the affectionate faith of the sister are examples worthy to be followed by the unfortunate youth of our own, or any other country, as an evidence that however dark the day, an honest heart and a firm resolve will overcome the greatest obstacles.

A French paper says that Lucille Rome, a pretty girl, with blue eyes and fair hair, poorly but neatly clad, was brought before the Sixth Court of Correction, under charge of vagrancy.

'Does any one claim you?' asked the magistrate.

'Ah! my good sir,' said she, 'I have no longer any friends; my father and mother are dead; I have only my brother James, but he is as young as I am. Oh, sir! what can he do for me?'

'The Court must send you to the House of Correction.'

'Here I am sister; here I am! do not fear!' cried a childish voice from the other end of the court. And at the same instant a little boy with lively countenance started forth from amid the crowd, and stood before the Judge.

'Who are you?' said he.

'James Rome, the brother of this poor little girl.'

'Your age?'

'Thirteen.'

'And what do you want?

'I come to claim my Lucille.'

'But have you the means of providing for her?'

'Yesterday I had none, but now I have. Don't be afraid.'

'O, how good you are, James!'

'Well let us see, my boy,' said the magistrate. 'The Court is disposed to do all that it can for your sister, but you must give us some explanation'

'About a fortnight ago, Sir, exclaimed the boy, 'my poor mother died of a bad cough, for it was very cold at home. We were in great trouble. Then I said to myself, I will become an artisan, and when I know a good trade I will support my sister. I went apprentice to a brush maker. Every day I used to carry her half of my dinner, and at night I took her secretly to my room, and she slept on my bed, while I slept on the floor. But it appears that she had not enough to eat. One day she begged on the Boulevard, and was taken up. When I heard that I said to myself, come, my boy, things cannot last so; you must find something better. I soon found a good place where I am fed and clothed, and have twenty francs a month. I have also found a good woman who, for these francs, will take care of Lucille, and teach her needlework. I claim my sister.'

'My boy,' said the Judge, 'your conduct is very honorable. However, your sister cannot be set at liberty till to-morrow.'

'Never mind, Lucille,' said the boy, 'I will come and fetch you early to-morrow. I may kiss her, may I not, Sir?'

He then threw himself into the arms of his sister, and both wept warm tears of affection.

WHO IS TO BLAME FOR THE INCREASE OF BACHELORS.—A correspondent of the New York Evening Post, in answering this inquiry, thus speaks a timely word for the women. He indignantly says:

'Is the blame for the extravagance in living all to be laid upon the women of this country? Certainly not. We speak of the extravagance of the community in carpets pianos, &c, but do not mention Fifth Avenue palaces, costly horses and vehicles, and splendid churches. Certainly the women are not to blame for these.—Look at the expenses of our young men in fashionable dress, 'brandy mint juleps, oyster suppers, Spanish cigars. I think that if the accounts were balanced, it is doubtful which side would preponderate. I apprehend that the fault in extravagant living pervades the whole community, both sexes being equally to blame. Even our funerals here become so costly that one can hardly afford to die You may be sure that our young women are as careful about entering into matrimony with the other sex, and quite as unwilling to make themselves wretched by marrying thriftles and dissipated young men.'

QUESTION FOR A WIFE.—Do you recollect what your feelings were immediately after you had spoken the first unkind word to your husband? Did you not feel ashamed and grieved, and yet too proud to admit it? That was, is, and ever will be your evil genius! It is the tempter which labors incessantly to destroy your peace, which cheats you with an evil delusion that your husband deserved your anger, when he really most required your love.—It is the cancer which feeds on those unspeakable emotions you felt on the first pressure of his hand and lip. Never forget the manner in which the duties of that calling can along be fulfilled. If your husband is hasty, your example of patience will chide as well as teach him. Your violence may alienate his heart, and your neglect impel him to desperation. Your soothing will redeem—your softness subdue him; and the good natured twinkle of those eyes, now filling beautifully with priceless tears, will make him all your own.

THE SILENCE OF AN ARCTIC NIGHT.—The following eloquent description of the silence of an Arctic night occurs in Dr. Hays' lecture on the Arctic regions:

'The moonlights of this period (winter) are the most grand and impressive of anything I have ever witnessed. The clearness of the air, the white surface of the snow and ice, give an effect monotonous and cheerless, but truly grand. But there is a new element which makes this mid winter moonlight seem almost terrible in its impressiveness—it is silence.

'I have often, to escape from the trying monotony of shipboard life, gone off six or eight miles into the interior in search of novelty and in order that I might be alone. There, seated upon a rock or snow bank, I look around me, and see a great uneven country; rocky hills and glaciers covered with snow; myriads of crystal gems sparkling in the light of the pale moon which shoots its rays down through the crisp are, making it almost as light as day. I look seaward, and see a long plane of ice melting into the horizon, dotted all over with huge, towering bergs—nothing more

'All nature is in the repose of death. I am too far from shore to hear the crunching of the tables as they rise and fall lazily with the tide, or the roar like distant thunder, as some huge crack opens through the heavy floes. There is no animal to cross my path, no tree among whose stiff branches the wind can sigh, and moan. There is no song of bird to enliven the scene—no wild beast to howl. I stand here alone, the only representative of God's living world—the only being that has life or can move. Every sound that I hear, every motion that I see is made by myself; I hear nothing but the pulsations of my own heart, my own footsteps, or now and then, possibly in the distance, the deep rumbling of a falling snow bank.

'The sensation of utter loneliness and isolation creeps over me. My heart beats, as it rushes the blood through the sensitive organization of the ear, I am oppressed as with discordant sounds. Silence has ceased to be negative—it has become sternly positive. I hear, see and feel it. Its presence is unendurable. I spring to my feet—I plant them heavily in the snow, to drown its presence, and I rush back to the vessel, and glad even to find refuge in its dull, dull life of horrid inactivity.'

THE UMBRELLA MOVEMENT.—Fashion works queer things. To keep their faces intact from the kisses of old Sol, ladies until lately sported diminutive sun-shades of about the dimensions of a dessert plate. As at that time they wore bonnets which left half their heads uncovered, these little toad stools affairs, however ornamental they might be, could hardly be called useful. We now find bonnets of reasonable size, but, to protect themselves from the sun, the ladies discard parasols, and as a substitute mount umbrellas. Indeed, it is but occasionally that graceful and diminutive parasols are seen, the sun umbrella being universally prevalent. The use of the article came in with the wearing of low necked dresses, which nothing smaller than an umbrella will adequately protect. Phila. Gazette.

A VIRGINIA LAWYER GOING TO LOOK FOR POTATOES.—The Weston Herald contains the following communication:

CLARKSBURG, August 20, 1857.

Messrs Editors: Being fully convinced that the practice of law is unprofitable in this State, I have determined to emigrate to the West. My reason for making the change is this; I am passionately fond of potatoes, great big roasters, and knowing from a recent trip that they grow larger and mealier in the West, I have determined to go to that glorious land of 'tater vines.' I go—not that I love Virginia less, but that I love potatoes more; and in the language of the poet I can truly sing:

There's not in this wide world a country so sweet,
As the West with its 'tater and buffalo meat,
The craving of appetite indeed must depart,
Ere the love of those 'good things' shall fade from my heart.

Col. BEN. WILSON,
Prosecuting Attorney from Harrison Co.

A LUDICROUS INCIDENT.—An incident took place at the Junction Hotel this afternoon upon the arrival of the train from Indianapolis. A gentleman and lady, inspired with a sudden recognition, were observed to rush frantically into each others' arms, and the fun of it was, that after a hearty embrace, they discovered that both 'had the advantage.' They were strangers, but the lady mistaking him for her 'dear cousin Charlie' had embraced him, while he, with a half defined recollection of having seen her before, went in lemons and 'got squeezed.' Their mutual embarrassment upon the discovery of the mistake, can well be imagined.—Lafayette (In.) Courier.

DON'T BACK THE BABIES.—It is wisely remarked that when babies are taken out riding in their little carts, it is little less than cruelty to push them along backwards. A child, like a grown person, must, in order to render a ride healthful, be drawn behind the mother, or servant, as the case may be, and not pushed before.—Proprietors of babies and baby carts, will please make a note, and save their little ones from sickness.

A. WEDDING COMPLIMENT.—A Western correspondent says: 'I attended a wedding a few days since. Wishing to say something becoming the occasion, I approached the fair young bride in the course of the evening, and after congratulating her on her departure from the state of single blessedness, I wished her a pleasant voyage down the river of life. She said she hoped so, but she heard there was a great deal of fever on the river now—she hoped they wouldn't catch it on the way down.'

A CRITICISING HUSBAND.

A contributor to the Independent gives a graphic picture of a very unpleasant and annoying phase of domestic life:

'Quite a dishful of raw eggs,' said Mr. Ellery, as he turned the third one from its shell into the egg cup. The remark was made in no ill-humored tone. His face wore no sour, no fault-finding expression. Nevertheless, his poor wife, who had daily boiled eggs for him during the last twenty years, and always by the minute hand, had never heard once the expression, in all that time, 'My dear, these eggs are just right.'

Daily had Mrs. Ellery varied, and daily did the objection vary. 'You forgot your eggs this morning, did'nt you?' Next morning—'Your eggs are pretty soft, but they'll do.' Morning after—'Better save these eggs for bullets;' and thus the poor woman never pleased Still he could manage to dispose of two, three or four at a breakfast.

Misfortunes never come alone; and Mr. Ellery's eggs were not his only mishaps. His shirts never fitted right about the shoulders. The bosoms were stiff as board, or limpsey as a handkerchief. His meals were always a little too late or a little too early, and the room was forever too hot or too cold.

But we are not pretending to follow the poor man through all his trials; we have only to do with the eggs. Mr. Ellery is not an epicure or a gormandizer; he is only at his own table a little particular, or as he expresses it, 'he cannot eat what is not fit to eat.' From home he can relish whatever is put before him, and is ever dreamed a pleasant guest. Perhaps, should the truth come out, it would appear that Mr. Ellery has fallen into a habit of home fault-finding—a sort of domestic criticism; and from this unconscious habit, his wife, the labor of whose life it is to please him, is doomed to undergo perpetual disappointment.

Mr. Ellery is an upright man. He values himself on being a good husband. A man of purer morals never lived.—Down, away down in the bottom of his heart, his wife occupies a warm place; but it is so far down as to be a matter of faith not of sight.

Her young days overflowed with cheerfulness and chat. In her father's house, if she cooked anything, 'Why, Bessie! what toast you make! give me another slice. And these eggs! it is something to have fresh eggs at this season? and it is more still to have a daughter that can cook them just right.'

Bessie has faded young, as American women are wont to do Her brown curly hair has given place to many a silvery thread, and her meals give few imitations of the gleesome board that Bessie Wolcott gladdened in her girlhood.

BENEDICT ARNOLD'S SILVER WATCH.

Benedict Arnold's name will go to posterity coupled with curses; but for all, he was as brave a soldier as ever wore a sword. He had as much military genius as any officer in our revolution. He led the 2d company of Governor's Foot Guards to Bunker Hill; he led the expedition up the Kennebec, through the trackless wilderness, co-operating with Montgomery in his attack on Quebec; he fought like a madman, but an inspired madman, with method in his madness, at the battle of Saratoga. He was the idol of the army, till he fell; like Lucifer, the son of the morning, with something of the ruined archangel still in his demeanor, and with something of Milton's Satan still to be traced in his career. The fate of Arnold has been brought to mind by a silver watch, a regular old-fashioned 'Bull's eye,' which now lies upon our table, and was the companion of Arnold in his military career. It is presented to the Connecticut Historical Society by the Rev. L. Smith Hobart of Hudson, Michigan, and from the manner in which it came into Mr. Hobart's hands, we have no doubt of the accuracy of the accompanying statement. He says,

'This watch was the property of Benedict Arnold. It was presented to Jeremiah Atwater, who, in the revolutionary war, was killed at Danbury, Conn. The watch then became the property of his wife Eunice. She afterwards married John Goodrich, of New Haven and was the mother of Andrew T. Goodrich, who for many years was a bookseller and publisher in New York city. This watch came into the possession of A. T. Goodrich from his parents, and was left by him at his death with his son-in-law, the Rev. L. Smith Hobart, of Michigan, by whom it is presented to the Connecticut Historical Society.'

MUSIC OF THE WIND.—The wind is a musician at birth. We extend a silken thread in the crevice of a window, and the wind finds it and sighs over it, and goes up and down the scale upon it, and poor Paginini must go somewhere else for his honor, for lo! the wind is performing with a single string!

It tries almost everything upon earth, to see if there is music in it; it perseades a tone out of the great cell in the tower, when the sexton is at home and asleep; it makes a mournful harp of the giant pines, and it does not disdain to try what sort of a whistle can be made of the humblest chimney in the world. How it will play upon a great tree, till every leaf thrills with the note in it and wind up the river that runs at its base, for a sort of murmuring accompaniment.

And what a melody it sings, when it gives a concert with a full choir of the waves of the sea, and performs an anthem between the two worlds, that goes up, perhaps, to the stars that love music the most and sang it the first.

Then how fondly it haunts old houses, mourning under the eaves, sighing in the halls, opening old doors without fingers, and singing a measure of some sad, old song around the fireless and deserted hearth.

THE 'NOTHING TO WEAR' CONTROVERSY IN BOSTON.

Talk at 'Ticknor's' about books and book-writers is sometimes very piquant and amusing. Here is a passage from a colloquy between a couple of litterateurs who had dropped in at 'the corner,' of a Saturday afternoon. The parties are a Cambridge-man and a gentleman from the rural districts, and having discoursed a while of graver matters, they came to Butler's poem about 'Miss Flora McFlimsey.' Cambridge-man loquitur—

'Mr. Butler seems to be in a 'Peck of troubles,'—and 'Nothing to Wear' turns out to be nothing to brag of.'

'It's a clever poem sir,—and written, I have no doubt, by the gentleman who first gave it to the public.'

'But what do you think of the statement of Mr. Peck and his daughter?'

'Worthy man—Mr. Peck—I dare say; and smart girl—Miss Peck; but against the two pecks there is a bushel of reasons for doubting the story—or at least the inference. I look to the intrinsic evidence—no woman ever wrote a clever satire or humorous poem of forty lines yet, or ever will. And as to this girl of fifteen—it's preposterous. If Butler got a hint of this thing from that lost manuscript, (which I dont believe) he should have acknowledged it handsomely at the start If he has sinned in point of veracity, taunt pis pour Butler; but as to the authorship of the poem, he either wrote it himself or got a man to write it for him.

'But what do you think of the writer's remarkable familiarity with the manifold details of a lady's wardrobe?'

'Bosh!—every married man knows as much as that, and many a bachelor more—if he choose to tell it. Bosh! say.'

'But,' said the Cambridge man, 'what do you make of the lines quoted in the newspapers, from Miss Peck's lost manuscript?'

'That's a Peck-adillo—she didn't write em'—an bowing politely, as if in apology for the pun, the rural gentleman departed. We bet our money in accordance with his opinon. Shall we loose? Quien sabe?—The immortal Kelper could wait in a more momentous matter than this so can we.—Butler against any man—or measure—until further developments.

KNOW NOTHING DEFINITIONS.—A National Party. One that carries a single State in a Presidential election, and elects one United States Senator and six members of the House, all from the South, e. g. the Know Nothing party.

A Sectional Party.—One that carries nineteen States in a Presidential election and has the entire control of all the departments of the government, e. g. the Democratic paty.

Political Honesty.—Changing a Congressional district in Kentucky to prevent John C. Breckinridge's re-election to Congress, Political Rascality.—Changing a Congressional district in Mississippi to defeat Wm. A Lake.

Fidelity to the South —Denouncing the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and lamenting that Kansas will not be a slave State, Treason to the South.—Defeating Gen. Scott for the Presidency, and thereby compelling his Northern suporters to join the abolitionists.

Independent Freeman.—Men who meet at the dead of night, and swear to support the nominee of the party.

Party Slaves —Those who assemble in open convention, and nominate their candidates.

THE THREE ANDREWS.

A correspondent of the Alexandria Sentinel writing from Port Royal, Caroline county Va., relates the following remarkable story:

On Saturday night, the 29th August, three strangers met at supper in this village One was a native of Richmond, Va., but of late a resident here; another a wanderer from the green hills of Ireland, the third an Alexandrian. No other gentleman was present. One of them saw by an envelope another had cast aside, that his Christian name was Andrew, and remarked, 'there are two of us, that's my name also;' when the third immediately said, 'we are three, for that's my name too. I was born on the day General Jackson was inaugurated, 4th of March, and named after him.' 'I was born in that month said the honest son of Erin, on the 26th day, and in the year '26. 'Stop,' said the Alexandrian, you have got my figures. I was born on the 26th,' and as if determined to extinguish his competitors, said proudly, 'I had company, I am a twin.' So am I,' 'so am I,' both replied, the first added 'mine is a sister, and lives to love and bless me.' So was mine, but she is dead.' 'So was mine, but she is dead,' both affirmed with emphasis and feeling, and abandoned themselves to the tender reflections which the remembrance called forth.

GRAND TIMES IN EAST TENNESSEE.—The editor of the Knoxville Register is happy over the accounts lately received in regard to the crops. Hear him:

'Hard Times' will have to surrender now. Never in the history of East Tennessee, have our farmers gathered such a harvest, as they have been blessed with this season. Wherever we see a farmer, we see a cheerful countenance. The wheat crop, in quality and quantity, is by far the best ever grown in this part of the State. The oat crop seems to be nearly as good, and corn, although small for the time of year, nevertheless, has a good color, and with a fair season, will yield abundantly.

This is truly the farmer's 'year of jubilee.'

A Bold hint. 'Sally, what time does your folks dine?' Soon as you goes away—that's missus' orders.'

A MINISTER NONPLUSSED.—The Rev. Matthew Wilks was once passing through one of the crowded streets of London, when he heard a carman, who found great difficulty in getting his vehicle along, owing to the numerous obstructions he met with, cursing and swearing at a tremendous rate. He quitely went up to the offender, and tapping him gently on the shoulder, said to him:

'Ah! for that cursing and swearing, of which you have been guilty, I will appear a witness against you on the great day of Judgement.'

'Ah, yes,' said the carman to his clerical reprover the biggest rogue always turns king's evidence.

The minister, in relating this anecdote to his friends, owned that this answer so completely nonplussed him, that he was obliged to walk off without saying a word in reply.

DYSPEPTICS.—Many people at the South who 'enjoy very bad health,' and seem only to live to complain of their livers, might take a hint from the following suggestions of a writer who understands what he says:

The influence of external temperature, excess of food and want of exercise, upon the condition of the liver is seen in that especial delecacy—foie gras. The goose destined to furnish this luxury is shut up in a basket where it cannot move, kept in a room highly heated, and assidiously stuffed with food. In a month the liver has acquired the requisite size and true flavor There are some human beings who subject themselves to a similar discipline—a course of cramming and stuffing, heated rooms and an idle life. They would do better if, instead of taking medicines for dyspepsia, they would give full play to the faculties of mind and body, and proportion their food to the requirements of nature, without any experiment in the way of departure from the ordinary experience of men in regard to suitable variety of the table.

A London correspondent writes: 'Learning that the Queen was to leave Buckingham Palace at an early hour this morning, for Scotland, I went in good time to the place of observation, and found about a hundred other spectators assembled. The royal family and attendants occupied four carriages, while the luggage filled six large wagons. A small company of Horse Guards, fourteen in number, took the lead from the palace to the railroad depot; then came the carriage of the Queen and Prince Albert, followed by the remainder of the family. I had a good view of the Queen; her face is very plump and rosy, much more so than is often seen, even in England, which is noted for healthy-looking women. She was the personification of health and happiness; and Prince Albert, who sat by her side, and is a very good-looking man, appeared equally happy.'

FAST BOY.—There is a fast boy in Madison, the capitol of Wisconsin, who, if he gets no back-sets, will scarcely fail to reach Congress or the penetentiary, one of these days.

His school teacher, a young lady, was prosecuted by his parents for pretty severely welting the young rascal's back for his conduct.

We give a portion of the boy's testimony, the wit of which atones for his rudeness:

'What was the sum?' asked the counsel for defendant.

'To subtract nine from twenty-eight.'

'Couldn't you do that without her assistance?'

'I suppose I could, but the arithmetic said I couldn't subtract nine from eight without borrowing ten, and I don't know where the h—ll to borrow it.'

WHO WAS SOLD?—The question is, who was sold? A man lately inquired one morning of his wife where she had placed his hat, to which she replied:

'Ask the devil!'

He coolly inquired:

'Well, where is it?' thinking the joke well returned; but there he was at fault, for she was good at repartee, and observed.

'That she did not know, for she was only the Devil's wife.'

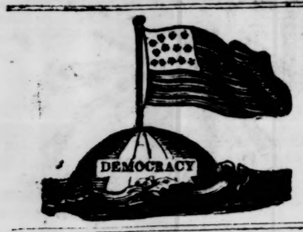

☞ An eccentric clergyman, lately alluding in his pulpit to the subject of family government, remarked that that it is often said. 'That now-a-days, there is no such thing as family government.' But it is all false—all false! There is just as much family government now as there ever was—just as much as in the days of our fathers and grandfathers. The only difference is, that then the old folks did the governing; now it is done by the young ones.'

A western paper says: 'The editor of this paper wants to marry somebody. Now don't misunderstand us; we are not advertising for a wife. We wish to marry two people—nor are we Mormon. From looking over the new statutes, it appears that justices of the peace are allowed two dollars as a fee for solemizing marriage. We are in want of money, and wish to marry a couple for two dollars.'

☞ A poor jilted blade says:

Woman's love is like Scotch Snuff,
You get one pinch and that's enough.
Whereupon a darkey of more sense, as well as soul, responds:

It stretch de more, de more you lub her.

NOTICE.

The Pioneer establishment having been transferred to the hands of new proprietors, it is very important that all old accounts should be settled as speedily as possible. Those, therefore, who are indebted to the office for subscription, advertising or job work are earnestly requested to come forward and make settlement without delay.

THE "PRESS."

What has become of it? We have not received a copy of the Philadelphia "Press" for four or five weeks. Can the Editor tell us the reason?

MORE BANK FAILURES.

A gentleman who arrived in the stage last evening informs us that all the banks in Baltimore and Washington city have closed doors against specie payments, and that it was expected that the Norfolk Banks would follow suit in a day or two.

OUR BOOK TABLE.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW for July; the NORTH BRITISH for August, and BLACKWOOD for August have been received. We hardly need say a word in commendation of these standard works. Notwithstanding an occasional article of an exceptionable character, they are worthy of and deserve an extensive circulation.

The SOUTHERN PLANTER for September, and the CAROLINA CULTIVATOR for the same month are upon our table, both journals entitled to the warm support of the agricultural interests.

SUSPENSION BY THE FARMER'S BANK.

The board of directors of the Farmer's Bank have resolved upon a suspension of specie payments. This action has been rendered unavoidable by the failure of the banks north of us, and the certainty of a run upon the Bank. This decision was taken last night at a meeting of the board.

It was pretty generally circulated on yesterday that a suspension had been resolved upon, but the news created but little excitement, as the step seemed to be one that, under the circumstances, was justifiable.

Holders of the notes of the Bank need feel under no apprehension as regards their safety, as we understand the suspension is but temporary.

AN IMPOSITION.

It is by no means an unusual custom for Northern publishers to forward the first number of their papers to Southern Editors with a view of receiving "a notice," and just so soon as the receipt of such paper is acknowledged, those honest gentlemen forget to send another copy. This is a swindle mean, dirty and contemptible. The receipt of a new paper is generally considered an invitation to exchange, and the invitation usually accepted by a complimentary notice. This practice is seized upon by many for the purpose of having their journals puffed into notice, after which they have no farther use for an exchange. This is a cheat that we have no doubt every country publisher has repeatedly practiced upon him, and we see but one remedy, and that is, if an exchange is desired, to send the paper without a "notice." This would put a stop to the rascally trick, and we hope to see it adopted.

☞ The Brig Robinson White—the property of C. M. Laverty, Esq.—James Hobbs, master, bound for the West Indies with a cargo of shingles, sprung a leak at sea, and had her rudder carried away. By the constant exertions of the crew the water was kept under, and an ingenious contrivance of the Captain supplied the place of a rudder by the means of which the brig was conducted home with the loss of only her deck load. The maintopmast was sent down, and to a portion of it was attached by means of strong ropes a fixture made of thick plank some nine feet long by three wide, the whole somewhat resembling the lost rudder. This fixture was then sunk by means of an anchor, and the end of the topmast brought up through the hole in the stern of the brig in which the rudder worked. Strong ropes were then fastened to the plank substitute and brought around the sides of the vessel. By these ropes she was steered safely into this port. This difficult operation was accomplished at sea, in the midst of one of the severest storms that has been known for years.—Too much credit cannot be given to Captain Hobbs for the skill and courage displayed in the management of his vessel.

☞ Mr. Buchanan's answer to the forty political clergymen who addressed him upon the subject of Kansas, has elicited a reply signed by twelve of the original number.

We have not yet come up with the precious document, but from the comments of a portion of the press, we judge it to be upon a par with the first. We presume that it will receive, as it deserves, the silent contempt of the President. There is no better way of treating these vile demagogues and hypocrites than by allowing them to howl and "shriek" without notice or comment.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRACY.

We have before adverted to the systematic attempt of the opposition to break down the great Democratic party of the country, by representations of unsoundness and general corruption. These charges so repeatedly made and persisted in, may have had the effect of impressing the mind of some credulous souls with a belief in their truth, and of the sincerity of those making them. If there was the slightest foundation upon which to rest these charges; if there was in the acts af the administration aught that would justify even an inference of unfaithfulness or treachery; if in the conduct of the Democracy, North or South, there could be detected a disposition to sustain principles or measures at variance with their open and avowed professions, we might be willing to accord to the propagators of these various accusations, and honesty of purpose, an a belief in the truth of what they assert. But where no such causes exist for even a suspicion against the party, we are forced to conclude, that it originates in a settled purpose to break down the Democracy at all hazards, and, whatever may be the consequences. How can it be otherwise? We know well that all men cannot see alike or think alike; the same things appear differently to different persons, but upon plain and well established truths men of intelligence are apt to agree. We firmly believe that the plainest geometrical proposition—such for instance as that the shortest distance between any two given points is a straight line—is not more susceptible of a clear and indisputable demonstration, than that the national Democracy are a sound, conservative, constitutional Union loving party; that it is the only reliable and safe party; that it is the only party to which the country can look with any degree of assurance in the hour of danger, and the only power that can possibly stay and drive back the enemies and assailants of the Constitution. In substantiation of these assertions, we might refer with confidence to its antecedents previous to the late struggle between the opponents of slavery and those standing upon its constitutional protections The self sacrificing devotion of the northern Democracy to, and their determination to execute in good faith, the Fugitive Slave bill, together with their hearty support of the principles contained in the Kansas and Nebraska bill, give the party a claim upon the confidence of the people which has not and will not be overlooked, notwithstanding the croakings and hypocritical ravings of an unscrupulous and desperate opposition. In all the trials to which the country has been subjected, whether from external foes or the more dangerous machinations of the enemies of the Constitution, the national Democracy has ever been as true as steel, and steadfast and unshaken as our own huge mountains. A love of the Union has been the main spring of its actions; the Constitution, the polar star that has guided it to its present high and glorious position. With their eyes fixed immovably upon this undeviating light, and with a firm hand, steady head, and a true heart at the helm, the Democratic party has been enabled to conduct the good old ship safely through the shoals and breakers and though the tempest may rage, and the mad billows roar and heave in their wild fury around her, she dashes on in her proud career unharmed, still bidding a stern defiance to the raging elements. She is in the hands of the Democracy; her officers are tried and their hearts never quail before storm or tempest. The people know this and are satisfied The welfare of the Union is entrusted to the keeping of men worthy of the high honor, and as well might the opposition seek to cover the face of the sin with a pocket handkerchief as to shake the confidence of the masses in the integrity and honesty of the great national Democratic party. They have an abiding faith in its capacity and fidelity, and the false and malignant accusations of its enemies fall harmless at its feet.

THE SORGHO, OR CHINESE SUGAR CANE.

We have received two specimens of molasses made from the Chinese Sugar Cane, grown in the county of Chowan. One from Mr. Joshua Skinner, and the other from his brother Mr. John Skinner. They are are both equal to the best specimens of sugar-house molasses. That sent us by the former gentleman is very thick—about the consistence of honey—having been boiled rather more we think than was necessary. The other resembles both in color and taste the best article of molasses, and we consider it as establishing beyond doubt the feasibility of manufacturing our own molasses. It is the intention of these gentlemen to cultivate it more extensively the coming year, satisfied as they both are that it will amply repay for cultivation. Dr. Thomas Warren of the same county informs us, that it is his purpose to put one hundred acres in this cane the next year. The specimens are at our office, and can be examined by all wishing to do so.

☞ The people of Salisbury, on Saturday last, voted by yeas 142, nays 43, to make a corporate subscription of $25,000 to the North Carolina and Virginia railroad.

It will be recollected that the county of Davie has, by a vote of the people, authorized a subscription of $100,000 to this work. And at a convention held the other day in Mocksville, $15,000 additional war subscribed by a few citizens.

We notice that Mr. Fisher, the President of the North Carolina road, expresses the conviction that this road (the North Carolina and Virginia) will be built.—Wil. Herald.

AT HOME AGAIN.

Once more we are at our post. After an absence of several weeks, we have returned to our labors, though we must confess with reluctance. Could we have reconciled duty with inclination or interest with pleasure, we should now be luxuriating in all the enjoyments of Nag's Head, its baths and its breezes, and the few, but choice spirits that still linger about that pleasant retreat. Vainly we struggled to frame an excuse that would justify us in gratifying our wish; vainly we sought for a plea for prolonging our stay, that we might for awhile longer wander over its bleak and barren sand hills, wind our way through the beautiful and romantic scenery that fringes the margin of the noble Albemarle, or contemplate upon the ocean shore, that vast and trackless waste of waters that continue to throw their angry surges in one deafening roar against the boundary beyond which, the All-wise has commanded them not to go. Duty called us home, and we could not disregard its mandate. It is a pleasant retrospect however that we are permitted to take. We have spent a most delightful season, for which we owe many thanks to the kind and gentlemanly proprietor. The season just past, the first under the management of Dr. Savage, has been a brilliant one at Nag's Head. The beauty, fashion, and elite of Eastern North Carolina have honored it by their presence, and we are sure they left it with regret. The additions and improvements that will be made previous to its re-opening, will tend greatly to the comfort of those who shall sojourn there the next season; and we predict a crowd of visitors, for its present owner has added much to its popularity. With Dr. O. B. Savage for its proprietor, and the gallant and obliging Burbage as commander of the steamer that will attend upon Nag's Head, it is not too much to say that it is destined to be THE summer retreat of the State. So mote it be.

EDUCATIONAL.

We have read, with deep interest, the address of W. W. Holden, Esq., delivered before the State Educational Association of North Carolina, at Warrenton, on the first of July; and, so far as we are capable of judging, it is one of the best if not the very best production of its kind, that we have seen in a good while. Its chief merit consists in the fact that it treats the great subject of education in a practical way, and by clear reasoning and convincing argument leads the mind of the reader not only to appreciate the importance of education, but also to feel the necessity of devising ways and means for its general diffusion among the masses of the youth of our State, of both sexes. While most addresses of the kind are prepared to please the public fancy and (in too many cases) to exhibit the speaker's varied accomplishments, Mr. Holden seems to have lost sight of himself and to have become thoroughly absorbed in the one great design of stirring up the public mind to a work of vast moment to us all. Trained in a practical school, Mr. H. has sought to impress his hearers and readers with he real usefulness and true nobility of mental elevation; and if he has not decked his address with wreathes and garlands of literary flowers, he has filled it with a rich freight of solid facts, able arguments and earnest appeals—matters of infinitely more importance than mere ornaments of speech. It is the effort of a profound thinker, an earnest patriot, and a vigorous and powerful writer.

We should be glad to make liberal quotations from this address, but want of space forbids it. It traces the history of the rise and progress of our State educational system, and also furnishes a brief summary of the movements of the other States of the Union in this regard. After doing this, it points out the educational improvements needed to perfect our present system viz: 1st. More and better teachers for our common schools; 2d. Uniformity in our common school books—home made books if possible; 3d. An abiding interest in common schools by all the people and especially by parents; 4th. Common cause, wherever it can be made, between subscription schools and common schools; 5th. A State Polytechnic or Military School. And these points are enforced with an ability by the eloquent speaker, which clearly evinces not only the interest he felt in his theme, but also the profound research that had been devoted to its advancement.

We advise all who have not read it to do so, with the assurance that they will be amply repaid for their trouble.

THE CHINESE SUGAR CANE.

The Savannah Georgian publishes a communicatipn from Judge De Lyon, in which he states, from the result of his experiment, that an acre of the Chinese sugar cane will produce three hundred gallons of syrup, twenty-five bushels of seed, of the average weight of thirty-five pounds, and twelve hundred weight of fodder. He also says that he is convinced that the syrup by proper management, can be made to granulate. On the same subject, an experiment stated in the Chester Standard gives 625 gallons of syrup as the product per acre. Thus far the reports vary from 150 to 600 gallons.

RAISING THE CENTRAL AMERICA.

The New York Post says it is reported that negotiations are going on between the Boston Submarine Armor Company and the underwriters of the Central America, to raise her hull, which is supposed to lie in about 28 fathoms water. The specie in her alone would furnish ample inducement for the experiment, if her position can be accurately fixed, and that it can, is probable from the fact that Capt. Herndon was reported to have given her position to the vessel which refused to come to his relief. Should the work be undertaken promptly, there is thought to be a reasonable chance of success.—Argus.

DEMOCRACY EVERY WHERE THE SAME.

Read the sound and patriotic resolutions adopted by the Massachusetts Democratic State Convention recently convened in the city of Boston. They breathe the true spirit, and show that North or South, East or West, Democracy is the same, true to the Union, true to the Constitution, true to the rights of the States. What a contrast this with the various factions now in existence, pretending as they do to nationality. Examine the resolutions reader, and judge for yourself.

RESOLUTIONS.

The committee on resolutions, through their chairman, Mr. Comstock, of Springfield, offered the following resolutions, each of which was received with hearty cheers, and all of which were unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That the democracy of Massachusetts, assembled for deliberation and the selection of their standard bearers for the approaching political campaign, deem the occasion a fitting one to renew their declaration of attachment to the principles of the democratic party, and their determination to labor for their continued ascendancy in the government of the country. The principles of the democracy are the same in all parts of the Union,—the north and the south, the east and the west; they recognize no sectional divisions, seek no interference with the rights of individuals or of communities, and look to the administration of the government in a manner most conducive to state rights, and to individual liberty and happiness

Resolved, That the platform of principles enunciated and established by the national democratic convention at Cincinnati meets our entire approval; is a chart which may safely guide us through boisterous political tempests, and which, if carefully observed, will guide the ship of state onward through every danger and peril.

Resolved, That the doctrines upon which our territorial policy is conducted, are calculated, in the highest degree, to realize the idea of government by the people. The principle involved in Kansas-Nebraska act, under which those territories will come into the Union, with a constitution, the choice of their own citizens, formed with reference to their wishes and adapted to their circumstances, commands our approval, and we believe is fast becoming the settle policy of our country.

Resolved, That the administration of James Buchanan commands our unqualified approval. His distinguished abilities, ripe experience, and extensive knowledge of the public affairs eminently fit him for the exalted position to which he has been called by the suffrages of his countrymen, in his unyielding integrity, singleness of purpose, and lofty patriotism, we have the surest guaranty of an administration which shall promote the welfare and happiness of our citizens and elevate the character of our country abroad.

Resolved, That as democrats of Massachusetts, standing by the administration of JAMES BUCHANAN, we welcome to his New England home the national statesman who for four years stemmed the torrent of sectionalism and fanaticism, affording a good example to all his successors, and furnishing the soundest political faith to all good citizens, rendering the name of FRANKLIN PIERCE a fit companion for those of his democratic predecessors.

Resolved, That as democrats, acting in full faith as to the soundness and correctness of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, we are rejoiced to see the popular endorsement of the Union upon that measure in the recent national election, but still more rejoiced to find the correctness of the position taken by our party upon that important question, fully confirmed by the Supreme judicial tribunal of the nation, as good constitutional law, in its recent opinion in the case of Dred Scott vs. J. F. A. Standford. The duty of every good citizen to bow to the decision of the U. S. supreme court, cannot be lost sight of; the purity and capacity of that august tribunal cannot be questioned: and hard will be the task of that party which undertakes to win its way to the confidence and support of an intelligent people, by assailing the motives, impugning the ability, denying the authority, or attacking the solemn decisions of the highest judicial authority in the land, and the bulwark of our constitution. Fools may sneer and gibber at that which thwarts their prejudices, and fanatics may rave at it in the pulpit and the forum, but wise men will shrink from such acts of madness and folly.

HON. B. F. HALLET.

This gentleman has been represented by Southern Know-nothings as possessing in himself the very essence of abolitionism. This ridiculous charge has been often refuted, by the democratic press, and the following extract from his speech at the recent Massachusetts Convention is but another clincher.

REMARKS OF HON. B. F. HALLET.

Hon. B. F. Hallet was next invited to address the convention. Mr. Hallet remarked that his health was such that he ought not to make the exertion necessary for speaking; but he could not refrain from responding to the friendly call which they had given him. He had not enjoyed the honor of attending as a delegate a democratic state convention for 6 years until today, for though his friends of the ward in which he resided had always complimented him with an election, he had not deemed it proper to participate in the proceedings of the conventions as long as he held a public office. He was now a private in the ranks, and as such was ready to join in the thickest of the fight. Some reputation had been given to him as the manufacture of resolutions which his friend from Springfield had just read, and which received with such tumultuous applause, were the same in tone and sentiment as those which had always emanated from the democratic party. The principles were the same as ever. Mr Hallett then proceeded to speak of cardinal points of the democratic doctrine as connected with the administration of government, and his eloquent remarks in regard to this subject elicited the warm endorsement of all present. The opponents of democracy denied the Constitution, their Bible and their God when they found they were not sufficiently anti-slavery. Banks would have a Union by a divided south on niggers and a united north on niggers.—The speaker urged democrats to adhere to the great fundamental principles of the democratic faith, meet their opponents like men, and their power would depend entirely upon ther integrity.

BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.

SUSPENSIONS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept 24.—Bange Brothers & Co., book auctioneers, and J. H. Benedict & Co., paper dealers, have suspended.

The brokers refuse the bills of the Bank of Canandigua, in this State.

The important paper house of Persse & Brooks yesterday assigned to Mr. Forrest, of Frost & Forrest. The liabilities are stated at $140,000. The suspended firm of Platner & Smith, paper makers, Lee, Mass., shows a nominal surplus of $400,000, mostly in real estate.

[Special Dispatch for the Patriot.]

MORE BANK TROUBLES.

NEW YORK, Sept 24.—The notes of the Bank of Canandaigua, in this State were thrown out by the brokers to-day.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24.—During the fiscal year ending June 30th, the amount of public lands sold was nearly 4,443,000 acres, and the receipts therefor upwards of $3,500 000.

Orders have been issued from the Navy Department for the preparation of the sloop of war Vincennese to join the African squadron.

Francis H. Burns has been appointed postmaster at Dover, N. H., vice Mr. Vittum.

The President has recognized the following named Spanish consuls: Jose Munoz, at Savannah; Juan Picory Vallannera, at Mobile, and Enrique Fallon, at Boston.

General Henningsen has gone South.

MORE FAILURES.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 24.—There have been more mercantile suspensions here to day. The parties are Fassell & Co., Murphy & Co., and Levy & Co., all large houses.

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—The Delaware. Lockawanna and Western Railroad Company have failed.

The Bank of Medina in this State has failed.

ANOTHER BANK DOWN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Monsom Bank, Maine, failed this morning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—There is great excitement here to-day in financial circles. Our banks still maintain specie payments, but refuse all uncurrent funds. The Metropolitan Bank is throwing out the notes of all the banks west of Albany.

MONEY AFFAIRS IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—It is not true as reported that the New York Banks talk of suspending.

EXCITEMENT AT CANANDAIGUA.

CANANDAIGUA, Sept. 25th.—The suspension of the Bank located here has caused great excitement, as a large number of its bills were in circulation. The Bank was an old safety funds institution.

THE PRESSURE AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The Bank of Washington has suspended specie payment in all except fives and small checks. The Boards of the Metropolis and Patriotic Banks are now in conference, and it is not yet known what action will be taken by them.

LATER.—The Bank of the Metropolis has resolved to continue full payments, feeling themselves secure against all demands. The partial suspension of the Bank of Washington is only temporary.

The "Patriotic Bank," is redeeming its 5's and small checks with specie.

There is an unusual crowd at all the banks.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

THE BANK PANIC IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Third and Chestnut streets are again the scene of excitement. Crowds surrounded the Savings Institutions before 9 o'clock. They all decline paying out deposits, requiring two weeks notice. The Banks have been besieged by crowds since ten o'clock. The Pennsylvania Bank reopened this morning, and is transacting business, but paying no specie. The Mechanics' Bank is paying specie for their tens. The Girard Bank refuses to do any business, rendering no satisfaction to depositors or note holders.

SECOND DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—There appears to be no concert of action among the Banks. Each is apparently taking a different course.

The North American is paying specie for tens, but issuing no notes on checks.

The Bank of Commerce is issuing specie, but paying out no checks.

The Girard Bank has come to terms, and is now redeeming their fives with specie but refusing to honor checks.

Most of the other Banks are making checks "good."

THIRD DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—11½ A. M. The Bank of North American is paying all its notes, having received specie from New York last evening, and represents having now more in their vaults than the amount of their bills. They are certifying checks.

The following Banks pay specie for fives: Commercial, Philadelphia, Manufactures and Mechanics, Farmers and Mechanics paying specie for tens; Northern Liberties and Western paying fives, in cases of necessity.

The Bank of Pennsylvania, and City Consolidator Bank pay nothing.

All the Banks are certifying their checks except the Girard, which is now suspending business entirely.

Safe Banks are refusing to receive deposits.

Additional excitement has been produced by the accounts from Baltimore this morning.

The Tradesman's Bank is paying every thing—checks and all.

Private advices say that the Banks of Reading and Pittsburg have suspended.

The Southwark Bank continues to pay all its bills. The Kensington Bank pays $6's only.

THE LATEST.—PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26 The Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Lancaster, and Reading Banks have suspended.

(Special Dispatch for the Patriot.)

PHILADELPHIA BANKS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Metropolitan Bank this afteanoon refused to receive the bills of the Philadelphia Banks on deposit. The Brokers, as a general thing, also decline buying them, but where they have done so a discount of 4 to 5 per cent has been charged.

The Northern Conservative and the Southern Black Republican.

John B. Weller from Ohio, is the conservative, and Edward Stanly from North Carolina, the black Republican candidate for Governor of California! The former distinguished himself in his native State as the champion of the constitution against the designs of the abolitionists; the latter made himself notorious by his professions of zeal for Southern rights, and by his abuse of the conservative Democracy of the North. The one showed his faith by his acts, the other by his words. It is no matter of surprise that in the land of their adoption they occupy the same relation to each other, and to the conservative party of the Union. Weller is in California what he was in Ohio, the uncompromising foe to black Republicanism, and has been selected to lead the conservative forces to put it down. Stanly is in California what he was in North Carolina. the bitter opponent and persecutor of the conservative Democracy, and has been chosen as the leader of the black Republican forces "to stop its encroachments on the rights of the North," as one of their resolutions expresses it. In one particular, however, Stanly is not now what he was in North Carolina.—Then he professed to be a better Southern rights' man than any Democrat North or South. Now he is an undisguised anti-slavery man of the New England School. He left his mask in North Carolina, and he now stands on the shores of the Pacific, "in naked ugliness," like the hypocrite described by the author of "The Course of Time."

Some of the black Republicans anticipate important results from Mr. Stanly's effective power on the stump. They seem to think that Weller will be consumed by the "burning lava of Stanly's wit and sarcasm," as one of them has it. Vain hope! Weller is more than a match for Stanly on the stump, even if the latter had a good cause to advocate and defend; and as to a black Republican triumph in a debate between the two champions upon the present issue involved, the mere suggestion is ridiculous in the extreme. So far from gaining popular honors and overwhelming his competitor in this canvass, we strongly incline to the opinion that Stanly himself will be consumed by the "burning lava" of the indignation of the conservative citizens of the Pacific State.—South-Side Democrat.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

SUSPENSION OF PAYMENT BY THE BANK OF PENNSYLVANIA—GREAT EXCITEMENT IN PHILADELPHIA.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The Bank of Pennsylvania suspended specie payment by resolution of the board of directors.—There is much excitement in the city this morning in consequence.

SECOND DISPATCH.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept.—The Bank of Pennsylvania suspension is complete, but the President says it is caused by the action of the other Banks against it and losses sustained from recent failures by dry goods men.

He also says it will be only temporary and that the capital of the bank is untouched. The Girard Bank is giving out specie for notes, but checks will not be honored till one o'clock. There is a heavy run on the city banks, and all the counters of the banks are besieged with depositors and note holders. There is much alarm and almost a total suspension of business.

THE AMERICAN TRACT SOCIETY.

After years of intrigue and agitation, the abolitionists succeeded, at the last session of the American Tract Society, in committing it to a sort of warfare against slavery Their aim was cleverly covered up under the pretence of a purpose merely to inculcate an observance of the moral obligations which arise from the relation of master and slave. The South took the alarm. The Tract Society was repudiated by its most zealous patrons; and the several denominations in the South began to concert measures for an independent system of operations. Incontinently the American Tract Society retreats from its position and reverses its policy. A work had been prepared on the "Duties of Masters," but its publication is suppressed. The South must be coaxed out of its sulky humor; for the Tract Society cannot afford to be driven from so inviting a field of exertion. We trust the South will reject the overture. The American Tract Society may disclaim any unfriendly designs against slavery, and may pretend to revert to its original policy of non-intervention; but to all that its power will be wielded in the interests of Abolitionism.—Rich. South.

SECTIONALISM ON THE WAYNE.

The election passed off quietly in this city and we believe throughout the State yesterday. The democracy put forth no effort and relied simply upon the natural reaction of the people, while the republicans had their chief speakers in the field with some imported thunder. The result is of the most cheering character.

While the vote generally has fallen off, as for instance 1168 in this city, the net democratic gain has been very large. In seventy-eight towns the net gain is 8400. In this ratio throughout the state the net democratic gain is will be 20,000. The democratic minority last year was 31,196.

In several cities and towns the democratic gain is especially gratifying—Bangor 360, Bath 830, Rockland, the nest of Kalloch and Fessenden, 450, Gardiner 403, Portland 658, Biddeford 403, Ellsworth 248. In only five of the 78 towns referred to have the republicans made a gain, and that of only 85 votes.

In Pnenobscot county we have made a gain of three representatives, in Kenduskeag, Exeter and Hermon districts, and probably have gained six—in place of none last year.

The democracy have reason to rejoice at the cheering prospect of the wane of sectionalism in this state. It has reached its maximum, and must now be growing "small by degrees and beautifully less." Let us take heart for the future of Maine!

ORANGE N. C. SUERIOR COURT.

H negro man (slave) Alves, the property of Mr Morgan, was tried for the murder of another slave on the late election—affording another warning to slave owners of the evils of permitting their slaves to assemble together on public occasions. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on Friday the 9th of next October.

GEN. JACKSON'S GOLD BOX.

In 1819 the corporation of the City of New York presented to Gen. Andrew Jackson the freedom of the City, in a richly wrought gold box; and the old hero left it by his will to that patriot in New York who should be adjudged most worthy to receive it, by virtue of his valor displayed in defence of the country. The Commen Council of New York City, after much deliberation and a hearing of proofs, adjudged Maj. Garrett Dyckman of the New York Volunteers, the fortunate recipient, on account of his gallantry displayed in the Mexican war. The Council proceeded to the Hermitage where the box was placed in his possession by Andrew Jackson, Jr., the adopted son of Gen. Jackson; and Andrew Jackson, Jr., accompanied this member of the Council to New York City.

The day fixed for presenting the box to Maj. Dyckman was the 14th September, the anniversary of Scott's conquest of Mexico; and the most extensive preparations, military and otherwise, had been made for the interesting event. But Mr. Stanly, after arriving in New York, and seeing all sides, changed his mind, and determined not to permit the presentation of the box. He obtained possession of the box, and then wrote a letter, dated at Metropolitan Hotel, addressed to the chairman of the special committee, stating the excitement, and the division of sentiment which he found to exist, and declining to make a delivery of the box. The disappointment was of course great, but the excitement increased. The Common Council assembled on the evening of the 14th, and adopted resolutions by a vote of 15 to 2, which are by no means complimentary towards Mr. Jackson.

Some of the New York papers censure Mr. Jackson, some of them in the most emphatic terms, and some of them express no opinion.

Mr. Jackson had left the City before the company with Mr. Van Tine, the Committee who visited him at the Hermitage, left for West Point.

Andrew Jackson, Jr., is the son of Mrs. James Donelson, who was a niece by the wife of Gen. Jackson. As Gen. Jackson had no children, he and his wife adopted him and took him to their home when he was two days old, and he was reared as their child. He owns the Hermitage property, and resides there.—Standard.

FARM FOR SALE

THE SUBSCRIBER has more land than he can manage, offers for sale his farm formerly owned by the late Sylvester, dec'd, situated near Hobson's Church, Norfolk Co., Va., and containing in estimation four hundred and seventy-five more or less, one hundred and fifty of which number is in cultivation, and the balance set with a growth of heart pine timber in a sufficient quantity to keep the farms for a number of years. The whole is enclosed with a good heart pine fence.

The buildings consist of a two story house with two good size rooms and a hall below, and three above, also cook room, quarters, barns, stables, a good well of water and fine shade trees, which make the place very pleasant in summer.

There is within one and a quarter miles of this place, a Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist Church—also a good school, and within a short distance of three miles, a Methodist Episcopal Church. The neighborhood around the Church Ground is surpassed by none in this section of the county, in point of health, morality and respectability.

For further description of this land, apply to the Rev J. D. Berryman and Amos Wilkinson, both of whom live within one mile of the land, or to the proprietor on Broad Creek among the folk.

Also for rent or lease, a low land farm in the same county, situated near Indian Woods, on a branch of the North West River, which produces about four hundred barrels of corn annually. None need apply unless they can come well recommended as a tenant and farmer.

TWO VALUABLE FARMS FOR SALE.

THE UNDERSIGNED wishing to quit the business offers at private sale, his TWO FARMS known as the "Sutton and Morrice Farms," on "Turkey Ridge" in Perquimans County, N. C.

For beauty and rich land both of the said Farms equal if not surpass any in the Eastern part of North Carolina. The part of the two Farms under cultivation is very productive and desirable to the Farmer. An opportunity of purchasing land of such extra quality is seldom offered. The first tract contains about SEVEN HUNDRED ACRES, the second FIVE HUNDRED and over. Both of the said Farms may be converted into one if required. They have on them two good tenements and out buildings, and convenient to two Landings for shipping. It lies in a compact body, but may be easily divided into several tracts.

All persons wishing to examine the land, are respectfully invited to call and see for themselves. The undersigned will take pleasure in riding over and showing the land.

I will offer for sale upon liberal terms of credit, provided such security as required be given.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

DOCTOR JOHNSTON,

THE founder of this Celebrated Institution, offers the most certain, speedy, and only effectual remedy in the world for Gleets, Strictures, Seminal weakness, Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotency, Weakness of the Back and Limbs. Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin; and all those serious and melancholy Disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind. These secret and solitary practices are more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellects, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with all confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. Johnston, and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

Organic Weakness

immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This disease is the penalty most frequently paid by those who have become the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue.—Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of Procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged; the physical and mental powers weakened, nervous debility, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, a wasting of the frame, cough, symptoms of consumption, &c.

OFFICE—No. 7, South Frederick Street, Seven Doors from Baltimore St., East side, up the steps. ☞ Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

A Cure Warranted, or no Charge Made, in from One to Two Days.

NO MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS USED.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to 'that bourne from whence no traveler returns.' To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that dreadful poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of his life miserable.

Take Particular Notice!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either Business, Study, Society or Marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz:—Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects upon the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, Depression of Spirits, Forebodings of Evil, Aversion of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, etc., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health. Losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Johnston's Invigorating Remedy for Organic Weakness.

By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All Impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Tremblings and Weakness, or exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Doctor Johnston.

Young Men,

Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospects hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

To Strangers.

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last 16 years, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Dr. J witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

DR. JOHNSTON is the only regular Physician advertising to cure private complaints.—His remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to others. Prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, the Blockley of Philadelphia, &c., and a more extensive practice than any other Physician in the world His many wonderful cures and most important Surgical operations are a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. Those who wish to be speedily and effectually relieved, should shun the numerous trifling imposters, who only ruin their health, and apply to him.

Take Notice.

☞ There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks advertising themselves as Physicians, ruining the health of the already afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his office.

☞ No letters received unless post-paid, and containing a stamp to use on the reply.

A RETIRED PHYSICIAN

Whose sands of life have nearly run out, discovered while in the East Indies, a certain cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds and General Debility. The remedy was discovered by him when his only child, a daughter, was given up to die. He had heard much of the wonderful restorative and healing qualities of preparations made from the East India Hemp, and the thought occurred to him that he might make a remedy for his child. He studied hard and succeeded in realizing his wishes. His child was cured, and is now alive and well. He has since administered the wonderful remedy to thousands of sufferers in all parts of the world, and he has never failed in making them completely healthy and happy. Wishing to do as much good as possible, he will send to such of his afflicted fellow-beings as request it, this receipt, with full and explicit directions for making it up, and successfully using it. He requires each applicant to inclose him one shilling—three cents to be returned as postage on the receipe, and the remainder to be applied to the payment of this advertisement.

Address Dr. H. JAMES
No. 19, Grand street, Jersey City, N. J.

N. B.—Dr. H. James has neither office nor agent in New York, as some have pretended and advertised. The receipe is sent from NO PLACE but No. 19, Grand street, Jersey City, N. Jersey.

VALUABLE FARM AND WOODLAND FOR SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF THE WILL OF RICHARD W. Silvester, deceased, I offer for sale privately that very valuable and well known Tract of Land called SCOTLAND, situated in the lower part of Norfolk County, twenty-three miles from Norfolk City, containing Six Hundred Acres, of which Two Hundred Acres are cleared and under successful cultivation, and the remainder is Wood Land, in Oak, Poplar, Gum, &c. The soil of the whole tract is very fertile. The portion already cleared and cultivated, will yield from 1200 to 1500 barrels of corn, annually, and the Woodland, when cleared, will easily yield ten barrels of Corn to the Acre, for ten years without any manuring.—The land is also very well adapted to the growth of Wheat, of very easy drainage; lies well, in a good neighborhood, and very coveniently located for market—being within one mile and a half of Indian Creek, a navigable stream; and about equally distant from the Dismal Swamp Canal, and the new Canal from the Great Bridge now in progress of construction. By water commucation, the tract is within two days' of Norfolk City, for produce.

The improvements consist of a new Dwelling House containing six rooms: a new Kitchen, with a Barn and other out houses complete, and all new and in good order—attached to the Dwelling House is a capacious Cistern, holding 5000 gallons of water

An opportunity of purchasing a Farm combining so many advantages in this section, is rarely offered.

The terms of sale will be made accommodating as to time provided ample security be given.

Persons wishing to examine the land, will have every facility offered to them by the overseer, on the premises.

For further information, apply in person or by letter to the subscriber at Norfolk, Va.

BOOK AND STATIONERY STORE.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL.

W. P. GRIFFITH, having dissolved his connection with the firm of Vickery & Griffith, would respectfully inform the citizens of Elizabeth City and of the surrounding country, that he has opened at the store formerly occupied by the late Mr. R. C. Barclay,

The largest and best stock of Books and Stationery ever offered for sale in the City of Norfolk.

Believing that the wants and the tastes of the people required one establishment similar to those found in the large Northern cities, where a full and general assortment of Books can be obtained, the subscriber has been induced, during a recent visit to Philadelphia, New York and Boston, to purchase from the principal publishers, and at the great "Trade Sales," a superior stock of

School, Classical, Law, Medical, Theological, Religious and Miscellaneous

BOOKS.

Which will, upon examination, compare with any to be found in the Southern country.

My Stock of Foreign and American

STATIONERY.

Is very large and complete, it has been selected with great care, and embraces every article required for the School and Counting Room.

MY WHOLE STOCK IS ENTIRELY

—NEW,—

and has been bought upon the very best terms and a large portion for cash, which gives me a decided advantage over all other houses in the city, and will enable me to sell my goods at prices far below former rates.

Booksellers in this and adjacent Towns and Country Merchants, will find it greatly to their advantage to examine my stock before going North.

Colleges, Schools and Teachers, will be supplied at Northern prices.

By special arrangements with the following houses, I shall receive their new Books as they are issued from the Press, and will supply any or all of their publications at their prices:

J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia.
Lindsay & Blackiston, do.
James B. Smith & Co., do.

SCOTT'S LITTLE GIANT PATENT
CORN AND COB MILL,
PATENTED MAY 16TH, 1854.

THE attention of Planters, Farmers, and Stock-feeders in general, is respectfully called to this Mill as the most important article of the kind now in use; not only well adapted for grinding Cob Meal for Stock, but Grits for the table, and especially Bread Meal from corn not fully ripe or dry in the fall.

In setting this Mill, no mechanic or frame work is wanted, only requiring to be fastened to a floor or platform. Easily adjusted and used by anybody, even by a child.

The LITTLE GIANT has received the first premiums at the late Agricultural Fair of Missouri, Kentucky, Maryland, Virginia, and other States; and that in the most complimentary manner; as well as the most ready commendations from the thousands witnessing its performance.

These Mills are guaranteed in the most positive manner; and No. 2 warranted to grind 10 bushels of feed per hour with one horse and offered at the low price of $44, all complete, ready for attaching the team,—No. 4 at $66 grinds 20 bushels per hour with 2 horses.

THE DEPOT OF

IRON, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS, AND FARMING TOOLS,

IS now being filled with all kinds of Goods in this line, selected recently by one of the proprietors from the largest establishments North and East.

Of IRON, our stock comprises all kinds and sizes suited to the wants of Coachmakers, Blacksmiths, Ship-Builders, and for farm work generally. The quality of it we warrant good. Nails, Spikes, Carriages Springs and Axles, Bolts, &c.

OF IMPLEMENTS,

our stock exceeds any thing ever seen in Virginia, and equals many at the North. We intend to keep everything in the line useful to farmers, and we think that the wants of all can be supplied at short notice. Our arrangements for manufacturing more extensively are nearly completed, and we shall be able to furnish a large majority of Implements of our own make, (warranted of the best materials) at satisfactory prices.

All new machines worthy of notice will be received at the Depot by the EXPRESS LINE; and we desire that the farmers of Virginia and North Carolina shall make the Depot their Headquarters when visiting the city. We ask an examination of our stock, whether in want or not.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

DOCTOR JOHNSTON,

THE founder of this Celebrated Institution, offers the most certain, speedy, and only effectual remedy in the world for Gleets, Strictures, Seminal weakness, Pains in the Loins, Constitutional Debility, Impotency, Weakness of the Back and Limbs. Affections of the Kidneys, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin; and all those serious and melancholy Disorders arising from the destructive habits of Youth, which destroy both body and mind. These secret and solitary practices are more fatal to their victims than the song of the Syrens to the mariners Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes of anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit, which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellects, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with all confidence.

Marriage.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., should immediately consult Dr. Johnston, and be restored to perfect health.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. Johnston, may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

Organic Weakness

immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This disease is the penalty most frequently paid by those who have become the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue.—Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of Procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged; the physical and mental powers weakened, nervous debility, dyspepsia, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, a wasting of the frame, cough, symptoms of consumption, &c.

OFFICE—No. 7, South Frederick Street, Seven Doors from Baltimore St., East side, up the steps. ☞ Be particular in observing the name and number, or you will mistake the place.

A Cure Warranted, or no Charge Made, in from One to Two Days.

NO MERCURY OR NAUSEOUS DRUGS USED.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges of the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known. Many troubled with ringing in the ears and head when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, and bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended, sometimes, with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

A Certain Disease.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to 'that bourne from whence no traveler returns.' To such therefore Dr. Johnston pledges himself to preserve the most inviolable secrecy, and from his extensive practice in the first Hospitals of Europe and America, he can confidently recommend a safe and speedy cure to the unfortunate victim of this horrid disease.

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands fall victims to this dreadful disease, owing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pretenders, who, by the use of that dreadful poison, mercury, ruin the constitution, and either send the unfortunate sufferer to an untimely grave, or else make the residue of his life miserable.

Take Particular Notice!

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgencies and solitary habits which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either Business, Study, Society or Marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz:—Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects upon the mind are much to be dreaded; loss of memory, Confusion of ideas, Depression of Spirits, Forebodings of Evil, Aversion of Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, etc., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health. Losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of consumption.

Dr. Johnston's Invigorating Remedy for Organic Weakness.

By this great and important remedy, weakness of the organs are speedily cured, and full vigor restored. Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All Impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Tremblings and Weakness, or exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Doctor Johnston.

Young Men,

Who have injured themselves by a Certain Practice, indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school—the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, and the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequences of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons before contemplating should reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospects hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

OFFICE NO. 7 SOUTH FREDERICK ST. Baltimore, Md.

ALL SURGICAL OPERATIONS PERFORMED.

N. B.—Let no false modesty prevent you, but apply immediately either personally or by letter.

☞ Skin diseases speedily cured.

To Strangers.

The many thousands cured at this Institution within the last 16 years, and the numerous important Surgical operations performed by Dr. J. witnessed by the Reporters of the papers and many other persons, notices of which appeared again and again before the public, is a sufficient guarantee that the afflicted will find a skilful and honorable physician.

DR. JOHNSTON is the only regular Physician advertising to cure private complaints.—His remedies and treatment are entirely unknown to others. Prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe and the first in this country, viz: England, France, the Blockley of Philadelphia, &c., and a more extensive practice than any other Physician in the world. His many wonderful cures and most important Surgical operations are a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted. Those who wish to be speedily and effectually relieved, should shun the numerous trifling impostors, who only ruin their health, and apply to him.

Take Notice.

☞ There are so many ignorant and worthless Quacks advertising themselves as Physicians, ruining the health of the already afflicted, that Dr. Johnston deems it necessary to say, especially to those unacquainted with his reputation, that his credentials or diplomas always hang in his office.

☞ No letters received unless post-paid, and containing a stamp to use on the reply.

TIN WARE AND SHEET IRON ESTABLISHMENT.

I WOULD RESPECTFULLY CALL THE attention of the citizens of Elizabeth City and surrounding country, to the fact, that I have located myself in this place, for the purpose of carrying on the business in its various branches and forms.—Being a practical workman, I flatter myself that any work I may be favored with will prove perfectly satisfactory.

TIN AND SHEET IRON

I shall keep constantly on hand Coffee Pots Buckets, Pans, Cups, Ice Cream Freezers and in fact every thing generally kept in an establishment of the kind Bathing apparatus of every description made to order.

Roofing, Guttering and Spouting done in the best and most substantial manner, on reasonable terms.

Old Copper, Brass, Pewter and Lead bought or taken in exchange for new work.

Store on Road street, next to the Boot and Shoe Store of Messrs. Knox & Jackson.

'YOUNG AMERICA' CORN AND COB MILL,

MANUFACTURED BY

S. MARCH, Norfolk, Va.

THE above Mill, which so far surpassed all others last season, has been improved, and made stronger and better than ever, and is now in the field carrying everything before it. It is the mill for strength, durability and swiftness.

I annex a list of premiums it has received this season, over the 'Little Giant,' 'Magic Mill,' Star Mill, Maynard's Mill, and all others that have come into competition with it:

First premium at the N. York State Fair.
First premium at the Ohio State Fair.
First premium at the Michigan State Fair.
First premium at the N. Carolina State Fair.
First premium at the Nashville (Tenn.) Fair.
First premium at one County Fair in N. York.
First premium at ten County Fairs in Ohio.

Trial of corn and cob mills at the North Carolina State Fair, October 1856.

The following table will show the time occupied by each of the Mills on exhibition in grinding half bushel of corn and cobs:

Young America, 4 minutes and 40 seconds.
Little Giant, 4 " 55 "
Magic Mill, 6 "

Sinclair & Co's Mill, two trials, average time, 6 minutes and 58 seconds.

Advantages of the Young America or Excelsior Mill over all others: 1st, great strength and durability; 2d, simplicity, (having but one set screw to graduate the quality of grinding, which renders it so simple that it may be managed by any ordinary farm hand;) 3d, it will grind more corn, or corn and cob, in the same time, and of same quality, than any other mill in use of the same size; 4th, economy—that part of the mill which is most liable to wear, being separate from the main body of the machine, can be renewed when worn out, at the small cost of $3. Thus in the Young America or Excelsior mill, I present the best, cheapest and most durable mill ever offered to the Farmer. This mill is of large size and greater capacity than any other mill ever sold at the same price

Price, including extra plates, $50.

I am also manufacturing Cart and Wagon Wheels, Farm Wagons, Carts, Trucks, Drays, Plows, Harrows, Cultivators, Corn Shellers, and Agricultural Implements generally, and am better prepared to furnish farmers and merchants than any other house in the city.

Call and examine my stock and be convinced that it is to your interest to patronize Southern enterprize. I am unwilling to believe that all the men in Virginia and North Carolina prefer to build up the North and impoverish the South.

I have also a Foundry connected with my factory, and solicit orders for Castings generally.

TWO VALUABLE FARMS FOR SALE.

THE UNDERSIGNED wishing to quit the business offers at private sale, his TWO FARMS known as the "Sutton and Morrice Farms," on "Turkey Ridge" in Perquimans County, N. C.

For beauty and rich land both of the said Farms equal if not surpass any in the Eastern part of North Carolina. The part of the two Farms under cultivation is very productive and desirable to the Farmer. An opportunity of purchasing land of such extra quality is seldom offered. The first tract contains about SEVEN HUNDRED ACRES, the second FIVE HUNDRED and over. Both of the said Farms may be converted into one if required. They have on them two good tenements and out buildings, and convenient to two Landings for shipping. It lies in a compact body, but may be easily divided into several tracts.

All persons wishing to examine the land, are respectfully invited to call and see for themselves. The undersigned will take pleasure in riding over and showing the land.

I will offer for sale upon liberal terms of credit, provided such security as required be given.

AT HOME AGAIN

LIVERY STABLES.

THE SUBSCRIBER would most respecfully inform his friends and the public generally that he has again taken charge of the Stables formerly kept by himself, but more recently in the possession of Messrs. Hinton & Lamb, where he will keep for hire horses either in harness or saddle, and vehicles of every description upon the most reasonable terms. He is also prepared to board horses by the single meal, week, month or year. Having been proprietor of these stables before, it is needless to say one word in reference to his attention to horses left in his care. Upon that subject he is well known

Persons putting up their horses at the stables, will have their baggage conveyed to either of the hotels, or any where else in town free of charge.
